Monaco

The Principality of Monaco is in the south of France, near the border with Italy. The famous Casino de Monte-Carlo and Monaco Formula 1 Grand Prix are just two of the many reasons to visit this small European state. In addition to gambling and race watching, in Monaco there are a lot of ritzy restaurants and bars to enjoy. You get to choose from 16 restaurants with Michelin distinctions, including the 3-star Le Louis XV - Alain Ducasse à l'Hôtel de Paris in Monte Carlo.

For those who prefer great outdoors to gambling and fine dining, there are gorgeous beaches, picture-perfect promenades, imposing palaces and refined golf clubs.

Menton

Menton is the easternmost town of French Riviera, near the Franco-Italian border. Menton is famous for its gardens, including Jardin Botanique et Exotique Val Rahmeh, with tall bamboo, avocado trees, water lilies in the ponds and every type of plant imaginable.

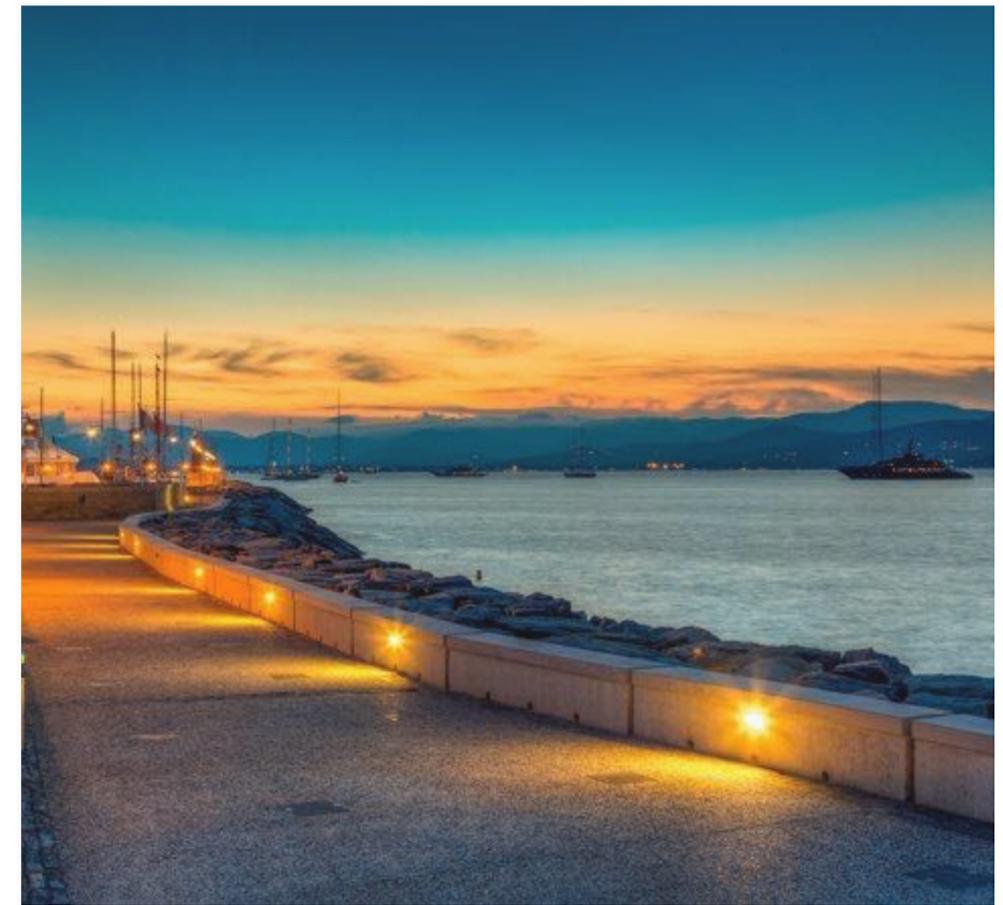

The Lemon Festival held here in February is one of the main winter happenings in French Riviera. Another noteworthy event occurring in Menton is the Music Festival in August. Basilica St. Michel, Jean Cocteau Museum and XVII century fortress are just a few of many other attractions in Menton, contributing to the particular, one-of-the-kind charm of this lovely town, nicknamed 'the pearl of France'.

Saint -Tropez

St-Tropez is charming with its tranquillity, loveliness and overall harmony. You will find fantastic beaches, fine restaurants, wineries, sidewalk cafes alongside museums, ancient ruins and beautiful churches. Constant chain of events, from religious festivities to sailing regattas, will make your stay here vibrant and memorable. Though St-Tropez is also a perfect place if you want to relax, lie in the sun and swim in the warm turquoise sea. A stroll along the Harbour in St-Tropez, with quite a few multimillion yachts moored in the marina, is a cultural experience in itself.

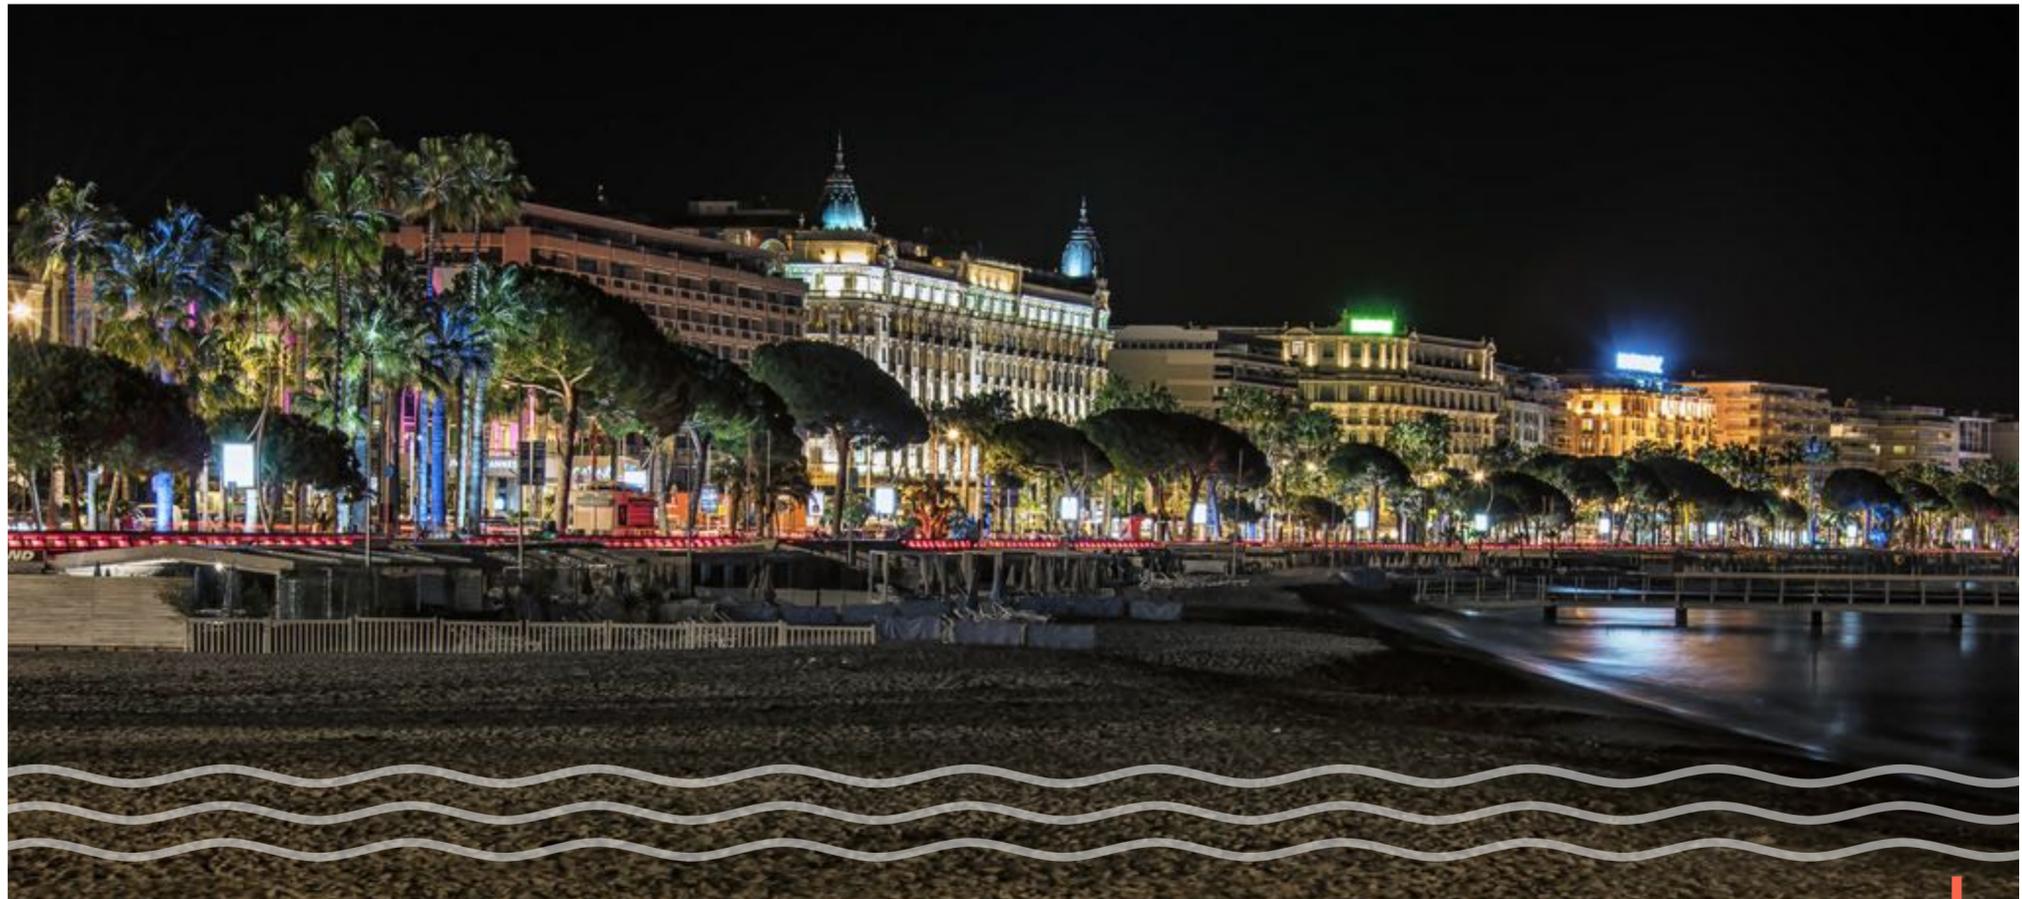

Ille Porquerolles

Ille Porquerolles is the largest of Îles D'Or, or the Golden Isles, the perfect place if you enjoy virgin nature and slower, more relaxed pace of life. In the eastern part of the island you will find the National Mediterranean Botanical Conservatory of Porquerolles, set up in 1979. National Park will impress you with scenic walking trails and abundance of wildflowers practically any time of the year. Ille Porquerolles is also known for award-winning beaches and notable local wines.

Cannes

A sailing vacation in Cannes' could be the title of a movie – and when you're aboard a luxury yacht moored off the coast of this throbbing, celebrity-packed city, it's easy to imagine you're in the starring role. Situated close to Antibes, Monaco, St Tropez and Nice, Cannes is a perfect springboard for a sailing vacation in the French Riviera. Its magnificent views, beautiful beaches, waterfront restaurants and glamorous populace are a wonderful introduction to Riviera life.

Antibes

Cap d'Antibes is probably the most upscale resort in the whole Côte d'Azur, known for its stupendous, fine-grained sand beaches and a wide array of gourmet restaurants.

Gorgeous, green-shrouded Cap d'Antibes juts out 4 km into the sea. The lighthouse and church Notre-Dame de la Garoupe is located on the highest point of Cap d'Antibes, offering a splendid view from the top.

The cities of Antibes and Juan les Pins are popular with the international jet-set, so they are ideal for people watching and celebrity spotting, particularly in spring, during the Cannes Film Festival.

Nice

Nice is a city for those who love sea, sun and tan. Three hundred sunny days a year. Many free clean and warm pebbly beaches. Nice is about sunshine, feeling laid-back and relaxed, and, as such, it has always lured artists, actors and writers to come and stay. They still do, making Nice one of the best places for celebrity spotting. A combination of rich history, memorable architecture, diverse nature, favourable climate and advanced infrastructure make this city one of the most popular destinations in the world.

Saint Jean Cap Ferrat

Tranquillity, warm climate, European aristocracy, international millionaires and luxurious villas – these are the main characteristics of Saint Jean Cap Ferrat. It is hard to believe that slightly more than a century ago Saint Jean Cap Ferrat was a mere tiny fishing village with hardly any residents.

In the end of the XIX century European kings and wealthy visitors, stunned by the natural beauty, gorgeous sandy beaches, tall pine trees and eucalypti groves, bought property here, and that was the beginning of Saint Jean Cap Ferrat as we know it today: celebrity-studded, extravagantly expensive, fashionable and glamorous.
